

Payment Policy

Effective Date: June 1, 2026 | Version 1.0

Purpose

This policy describes how Good Company handles billing, payment, refunds, and related financial matters. The intent is transparency: clients and families should know what they will be charged, how to pay, and what happens when circumstances change.

Pricing Transparency

Good Company maintains a written price list that is provided to every client before services begin. All services are priced according to this list. Custom arrangements are agreed to in writing before services are performed. There are no hidden fees, surcharges, or add-on charges beyond what is documented in the price list.

Accepted Payment Methods

Good Company accepts the following payment methods:

- Personal check (made payable to Good Company Senior Concierge Services LLC)
- Cash
- Venmo
- Square

Billing Frequency

Billing frequency depends on the service arrangement:

- À la carte services are billed after each visit or service is completed
- Monthly bundles are billed on a recurring date established at the time of intake by mutual agreement between Good Company and the client. The billing date may be adjusted by the mutual agreement of the parties.
- Errand reimbursements (groceries, prescriptions, fuel surcharges, etc.) are billed with the next regular invoice
- Long-term recurring arrangements may be billed on a custom schedule agreed to in writing

Invoice Delivery

Invoices are delivered to the client (or designated billing contact) by email by default. Paper invoices are available on request. Invoices include:

- Date range of services provided

- Itemized list of services with dates and amounts
- Receipts attached for errand reimbursements where applicable
- Payment due date and accepted payment methods
- Outstanding balance from previous invoices (if any)

Payment Due Date

Payment is due within 7 days of invoice date unless otherwise agreed in writing. Monthly bundle payments are due on the 1st of the service month.

Late Payments

Good Company recognizes that families are sometimes managing complex situations. The following process applies to late payments:

- Day 1–14 past due: reminder by email or phone, no late fee
- Day 15–30 past due: second notice, $15 late fee applied
- Day 31–45 past due: third notice, services may be paused until balance is resolved (additional late fee at discretion of the company.)
- Day 46+ past due: services suspended, account referred to collections, legal counsel, or legal proceedings at Good Company's discretion

Returned Checks

A returned check fee of $25 applies to any check that is returned by the bank for any reason (insufficient funds, stop payment, etc.). After one returned check, future payments must be made by another method at Good Company's exclusive discretion.

Cancellations and Refunds

Refunds are issued in the following circumstances:

- Visit cancelled by Good Company: full refund for that visit
- Visit cancelled by client with 24+ hours' notice: full refund or credit toward future visit
- Visit cancelled by client with less than 24 hours' notice: 50% refund or 50% credit
- Monthly bundle cancelled with 30 days' written notice: prorated refund of unused portion
- Monthly bundle cancelled with less than 30 days' notice: refund covers only services not yet scheduled, less an administrative charge

Refunds in the Event of a Client's Passing

If a client passes away unexpectedly, Good Company will refund any unused funds to the designee the Client sets at the end of this policy. There are no exceptions to this policy and no questions asked.

The process is as follows:

- Upon notification of the client's passing, Good Company will suspend all scheduled services immediately

- Good Company will calculate any unused portion of prepaid services (monthly bundles, advance payments, etc.)
- Within 30 days of notification, Good Company will issue a refund to the family or estate by check or by reversing the original payment method
- If errand reimbursements or other expenses are owed to Good Company, these will be deducted from any outstanding refund.
- Good Company will provide a final statement showing the calculation of the refund

Refunds in the Event of Hospitalization

If a client is hospitalized or otherwise unable to receive services for an extended period:

- Scheduled visits during hospitalization are suspended without charge
- Monthly bundles are paused or prorated to reflect the time services were not provided
- Services resume on a mutually agreed date after discharge
- If the client transitions to a higher level of care and Good Company services are no longer appropriate, the unused portion of any prepaid services is refunded

Refunds When Services are No Longer Appropriate

If Good Company determines (in its exclusive discretion) that a client's needs have evolved beyond the scope of services Good Company provides (per the Client Acceptance & Screening Policy), and services must be discontinued:

- Good Company will provide notice as outlined in the Termination of Care Policy
- Any unused portion of prepaid services will be refunded within 30 days
- No early termination fee applies

Disputed Charges

If a client or authorized family member disagrees with a charge, the following protocol shall be followed:

- Contact Good Company within 30 days of the invoice date with a written description of the dispute by email or mail
- Good Company will review the disputed charge and respond within 7 business days
- If the dispute cannot be resolved between the parties, the Complaint Handling Policy applies

Receipts and Documentation

Good Company provides:

- An itemized receipt for every payment received
- Annual statements upon request (useful for tax purposes, long-term care insurance reimbursement, or family record-keeping)
- Receipts for errand reimbursements (groceries, prescriptions) accompany each invoice

Errand Reimbursements

When Good Company makes purchases on behalf of a client (groceries, prescriptions, supplies, etc.):

- The exact cost is added to the next invoice with the original receipt attached
- Reimbursement is for the actual cost only, in addition to the service fee for the errand itself

Tipping

Tipping is not expected or solicited. Clients and families who wish to express appreciation are welcome to do so in any way that feels natural to them, but no client should ever feel obligated to tip.

Rate Adjustments

Service rates are subject to annual adjustment with at least 30 days' written notice. Rate adjustments do not apply retroactively to services already provided or to monthly bundles already invoiced.

Confidentiality of Financial Information

All financial information about clients (payment methods, billing addresses, account details, etc.) is kept confidential according to the Records Retention Policy. Financial information is never shared, sold, or disclosed except as required by law, to provide services, or with the client's written authorization.

Policy Review

This policy is reviewed annually and updated as needed. All staff members are required to read and acknowledge this policy.
